

Internet Privacy Statement

About Your Privacy

The following outlines Hospicom, Inc.'s Internet Privacy Statement regarding your use of our website. Hospicom, Inc. is aware of our visitors' concern for privacy when using this website. We want to give our website visitors the opportunity to know what information we collect about them and how they can limit the use of individually identifiable information beyond the purposes for which they first provided it. At all times, however, we reserve the right to disclose information where required by law or to comply with valid legal processes (such as a search warrant, subpoena or court order) to protect the company's rights or property, including, without limitation, the right to transfer the data in the event of a transfer of control of Hospicom, Inc. or the sale of substantially all our assets, or during emergencies when safety is at risk.

Please be sure to read this entire Internet Privacy Statement before using or submitting information to this website. By using this website, you agree with the terms of this Internet Privacy Statement. Whenever you submit information via this website, you consent to the collection, use and disclosure of that information in accordance with this Internet Privacy Statement. Your use of this website is also subject to the Terms of Use for this website, which is incorporated herein by reference.

Data We Collect and How We Use It

Personal Information

If you request company information through Hospicom.us, we may collect personally identifiable information such as your name, address, phone number, e-mail address, survey information, website registrations or any other information that might reasonably be used to identify you individually. We collect personally identifiable information from website visitors only when it is voluntarily provided. The personal data you provide is considered private and confidential. It will be collected by a third-party vendor that acts as a hosting service for our website. This information may also be retained by an outside vendor for storage purposes. We will not sell, rent or exchange your personally identifiable information with unaffiliated entities without your express consent to such transfer.

We may also collect information obtained from you on registration forms used to process your requests for services and information, such as contact information (name, address, e-mail address). This registration information may also be gathered if you register for certain services via fax or mail. We may use this information to send you a welcoming e-mail. Additionally, we may refer to your personally identifiable information to better understand your needs, to improve our website and our services, or to send updates or notices about our company and the products we offer that we think may be of interest to you.

We may also combine the personally identifiable information you provide with other generally or publicly available information to help us identify visitors' preferences or interests. We may use the information to improve the content of our website or our products and services. Again, we do not sell, rent or otherwise share with unaffiliated entities any personally identifiable information we collect unless you are first notified and expressly consent to such transfer.

Non-Personally Identifiable Information

Our web server captures the Internet Protocol (IP) addresses of each connection to our website and the specific web pages visited during that connection. An IP address is a number assigned to your computer by your Internet Service Provider, so you can access the Internet. It is generally considered to be non-personally identifiable information because in most cases it changes each time you connect to the Internet. IP addresses may be used to diagnose problems with our server, report aggregate information, determine the fastest route for your computer to use in connecting to the website, and administer and improve the website. Although the IP address and related information collected is stored in the server log files, no individual is authorized to access those files for any purpose other than system maintenance. We may also use this information to help improve our website and our services by better understanding our audience. We may also collect non-personally identifiable information in aggregate form to track data such as the total number of visitors to each page of our website and the domain names of our visitors' Internet Service Providers. We may use this information, which remains in aggregate form, to understand how our visitors use our website so that we may make them better.

Children

Hospicom, Inc. does not knowingly collect any personally identifiable information from children under 13 years old through this website. However, if the parent or the guardian of a child under 13 believes that the child has provided us with personally identifiable information, the parent or guardian of that child should contact us to request that this information is deleted from our files. Anyone under 18 years old should seek their parent's or guardian's permission prior to using or disclosing any personal information on this website.

How You Can Control and Update Data About You

Updating Contact Information

We want to be sure that we keep only the most accurate and up-to-date information about you in our records. Therefore, whenever you believe that your contact information needs to be updated, you can contact us to correct or update your contact information. You may choose at any time to remove your name, telephone number and postal and e-mail addresses from the list we use to send notices or updates and elect not to receive correspondence from us by contacting us.

Data Integrity and Security

We take reasonable steps to protect your personally identifiable information as you transmit your information from your computer to our website and to protect your information from loss, misuse and unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration or destruction. All information transmitted to this website is secure to the extent possible using existing technology. You should keep in mind, however, that no Internet transmission is ever 100% secure or error free. In particular, e-mail sent to or from this website may not be secure, and you should therefore take special care in deciding what information you send to us via e-mail. Moreover, where you use passwords, ID numbers or other special-access features on this website, it is your responsibility to safeguard them.

Hyperlinks

This website may provide links to other websites as a service to our visitors. These are websites we believe may have helpful information. However, we do not endorse, and are not responsible for, the content of third-party websites. Nor does Hospicom, Inc. have any control over information you may choose to provide to those websites. The privacy policy described here does not apply to third-party websites, even if they are linked to Hospicom, Inc.'s website. Other websites you visit may have their own privacy policies or no policy at all. Other websites might use personal information differently than our policy permits. We strongly encourage you to review the privacy policies of any website before providing any personal information.

Future Updates

If we make changes to this privacy policy, we will post new information on this page for your convenience. Please check this Internet Privacy Statement regularly for any changes.

Questions

Questions about the Hospicom, Inc.'s Internet Privacy Statement may be directed to:
11 Main Street
Cold Spring, NY 10516